

FUNCTIONAL REQUIREMENTS

- The system shall allow registered users to log into their account by entering their username and password
- The system shall be storing the products selected by the customer in the temporary storage (cart)
- A customer shall be able to apply any valid discount code in the checkout section before placing an order
- Products in the store section shall be displaying an information window providing all the available specifics of that product